In the Specification

Please amend the specification at page 6, second full paragraph, as follows:

In another embodiment, the system further includes a configurable hardware device and a processor located on the CCU for executing the device program, whereby the device program runs on the processor and configures the configurable hardware device for enabling the CCU to process image data. The system may further include a processor program executing on the CCU for overwriting a pre-existing program on the CCU.